A few words about Merlot;

The thin-skinned, dark berry-blue grape or 'little blackbird', as it is referred to in France, shares similar flavors and aromas as Cabernet Sauvignon. Typically, there will be dark berry fruit, cherry, and cassis characteristics that may combine with other plum fruit as well as chocolate, herbs, and notes of leather.

Bordeaux would be nothing without Merlot; it's the primary grape in the Right Bank's St.-Emilion and Pomerol and overall, is double the acreage of Cabernet Sauvignon throughout the Bordeaux region. In Pomerol and St. Emilion, Merlot stands alone and uniquely expresses itself. Probably the most famous and sought-after Merlot is from Pomerol's Chateau Pètrus, with its legendary and jammy-velvet wines that age forever. While many rave about Pètrus' opulent and complex wines, others might choose another world renowned merlot from Pomerol, Château Le Pin.

In Washington, Merlot stands second to no other state in quality. The best places commanding attention are wines from Columbia Valley and Walla Walla. A good place to start would be with Gary Figgins' Leonetti Cellars, Bijal Shaw's Maghee, or Northstar Winery, all with Merlots showing balance, flavorful fruit, and finesse. In a reverse paradox of Merlot's early use by U.S. winemakers, small bits of Cabernet Sauvignon or Cabernet Franc are now being blended to toughen up Merlot's structure...with amazing Merlots as the net result.
